

What Counts?

A little means a lot

All family contributions to the school are valued and make a difference.

Three for Me helps the school organize and effectively communicate its needs to parents, and welcomes all families into the school as partners in creating a better learning environment for children.

By making the Three for Me promise and dedicating three hours of your time to the school over the course of the school year, you can strengthen the partnership between home and school for your child's benefit.

Below is a list of many of the ways you can contribute to the school and your child's education. The opportunities are grouped into things you can do from home, things you can do at the school, and things you can do in the community. All these options and more can count toward your three-hour promise.

Please review the opportunities and consider where your interests and talents lie; then fill out the Volunteer Sign-Up Sheet.

If there is something you are interested in doing that is not on this list, please write it down on the Volunteer Sign-Up Sheet along with your contact information. Someone will contact you soon.

At Home

- Ask your children to explain what they learned in school.
- Create a homework space in your home.
- Have a weekly family reading or learning night.
- Make family outings learning experiences. When shopping, ask your children to calculate prices. Visit museums and other places and discuss what you see and learn.
- Help the teacher with preparations and projects.
- Purchase healthy snacks for parties.
- Purchase items to be used in the classroom.
- Write newspaper editorials about the state of education in your area and suggestions for improvement.
- Translate letters to parents and other materials.
